

Salice Vedi Italiano

The Italian spirit runs through the heart of Salice's core values. They have been creating eyewear on the shore of Lake Como for over 90 years and they always will do. Still owned by the founding family, Anna Salice is firmly at the helm. The products benefit from a combination of forward thinking and modern manufacturing whilst still being heavily influenced by the traditional values that made Salice who they are today. Salice is, synonymous with speed, sport, energy and adrenaline, the design concept for Salice's goggles has always been a fusion of high technical specification with great looks. The flagship models, Pro and Free perfectly combine Italian flair with practical and useful features that enhance the performance of its own athletes as well as its loyal following of amateur and professional skiers and riders across Europe. Affectionate to their country you will always find the Italian flag running through their collection.

Salice Pro £70

Whether you're hitting the park or staying on the piste the Salice Pro goggles won't let you down. The mirrored lenses feature a double layer polycarbonate spherical construction providing an increased field of vision and clarity. Protection against misting up is guaranteed by the antifog coating and lens air-inlets, which increase ventilation inside the goggles. The frame profile ensures a great fit when worn with a helmet and also features a double adjustable elastic strap and face gasket lined with velvet.
